Yes, I feel self doubt sometimes it courses through my veins

Second guessing my direction and questioning each step I take

And yes, yes I feel the pressure too

But I have faith in myself, and I made a choice

And everything you said, was it meant to just change with the wind

You see the world through jaded eyes and that's not the way I want to live

Proud to be, and you know it

I made a choice and my choice is to stand

Stand fucking hard

Yes, as the years pass by I feel the loss

So many people slip away and it hurts, it hurts

But I still know what I'm about, And I'll say it again

And I'm proud to be, that's right

And everything you said, was it meant to just change with the wind

I thought we shared the same ideals, but now I barely know who the fuck you are

Proud to be, and you know it

Proud to be

And I'm still proud to be

And I'm still proud to be, yes yes

And I'm still proud to be

I still wear an X on my hand and you know that I'm still proud to be
