She said it's over
I've tried everything but being sober
And I just can't help but see
That she's everything to me
She said I'm okay
She said she just couldn't couldn't stand another day
You think I'm so damn obvious and so predictable
Well baby I'm not that simple

Staring at the ceiling as I lay in my bed
I've got a girl inside my heart and a song in my head
And the worst thing about her's I can't live without her
And that's the truth
I'm trying, I'm trying to keep it bottled inside

I've got a girl inside my heart that I just can't hide
And the worst thing about her's I can't live without her
And that's the truth

Half-assed romances
Full of lost hopes and second chances
Which no one can believe
Until they themselves have seen
I don't want to be here
Things used to be so clear
I'm waiting for my next chance to appear

Life's left such bitter tastes
I think of time I've wasted
I think of time
