

Backseat Goodbye

"Keep It Casual"

Visit "Keep It Casual" on MotoLyrics.com

i woke up again.
sun's shining for once.
think i'll think about my life.
or maybe i'll just blow it off.
it's not like it matters.
tomorrow will come soon enough.
to knock me right back on my ass.
guess i'll have to take another for granted.
same damn day for eighteen years.
wait i take that back, let's make it nineteen now.
just another face for you to forget.
but that's the usual.
let's keep it casual.
the days they are dying.
along with my life.
tried this shit ten times before.
i still can't get it right.
i saw you again.
you're just as blind as before.
won't you take your eyes out of the back of your head.
so maybe i can be a little more misleading.
same damn day for eighteen years.
wait i take that back, let's make it nineteen now.
just another face for you to forget.
but that's the usual.
let's keep it casual.
come on, you can't be serious.
let's pretend those words never left your lips.
a bit more tragic, a little less insincere.
you're talking to me, but "i'm a liar" is all i hear.

Visit Backseat Goodbye page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.