Do you remember when we were younger.
And the world was so big.
The trees would hang over us like skyscrapers.
They still do, but now we don't notice.
So sit down, this is no time for a revolution.
The days are winding down, you should just give in while you're ahead.
And you say, you're gonna get somewhere someday.
I'll believe it when i see it, 'til then you're just a waste of my time.
do you remember when i moved away.
and couldn't say goodbye.
i'll never forget that look on your face.
no matter how hard i try.
Take it or leave it, Promises are only good for the first five minutes.
Don't have to believe it, just abide by the lines of the compound sentence.
