My eyes, they rained.
For the first time today.
I asked them why.
They didn't know what to say.
See, I saw this girl.
She was amazing, and all that I wanted.
But could never have.
And no she wasn't a dream, she was you.
Colors crawled in corners.
For what seemed like hours.
The sunlight seemed to disappear for the day.
I was walking with no description.
When I saw you through the trees.
The way your hand grazed my shoulder made me weak.
"It was an accident, and so is love", you said.
"But I'll take what I can get".
It was perfect the way your eyes met mine.
How our hands slid into place.
But it's getting late and you wish you could stay
My body screams for you.
Did you know my body screams for you?.
But the days are getting shorter.
And I'm not sure, No I'm not sure what I should do.
Please tell me you love me.
It's not that hard to say.
Our hearts, they're still beating.
So there's no need to trade.
