Your hopes and dreams rest on futuristic scenes
Of what you think you will achieve
You lie in bed at night
Hoping everything will turn out right
Tomorrow
So worried about what's ahead
And not what's here right now
Chorus
Who knows?
Will tomorrow ever come?
How can you tell today won't be the last one?
God's in control, so smile at things not understood
Cause you know all things work together for the good
If you could only find the missing puzzle peace of mind
You would see the light of day
But what we don't understand
Is in the hands of God, not man
His ways are higher than our ways
His grace is sufficient to sustain

Chorus

His ways are higher than our ways

Chorus
