Just when you think you've seen enough to spot the difference
The restless habs will snap you from your own indifference
Restless habs (x4) Restless
On a cold and lonely street she said to the innocent bystander What's that you said? Don't lose your head, you'll spill all the aner (you'll smell all it and her)
Restless habs (x4) Restless
Nobody knows that some soul has to breakdown
It's all a waiting game Everyday it starts the same
You wake up to the sirens and smell the fruit you can't resist
And then you feel the fist
Just another thing you must cut out
You see that classic dog?
In summers you take a walk They're everywhere this time of night In this here neck of the woods you'll always find the goods
And goods are what you came here for Restless habs (x3) Restless
Take a chance to guess who is fastest
And take a peek to pin it on the bastards
And take the best you can't stand You're leaving the rest
And ya left ya know
