Had rusty hot rod
On a country road
And a John Deere tractor
With a radio
Just a long haired farmboy
With jukebox dreams
Hit the town on weekends
Just to blow off some steam

The years roll by
The world don't stop
And all these memories are all I've got
But the love I leave in my wildest dreams will live on Long after I'm gone
Long after I'm gone

I hug my babies
I kiss my wife
Don't take for granted
A single breath of this life
And I count my blessings
Each and every day
'Cause tomorrow ya know it just might be too late
You know what I say

The years roll by
The world don't stop
And all these memories are all I've got
But the love that I leave in my wildest dreams will live
on
Long after I'm gone
Long after I'm gone

The years roll by
The world don't stop
And all these memories are all I've got
But the love that I leave in my wildest dreams will live
on
Long after I'm gone
Long after I'm gone

Long after I'm gone
