I don't need no one to hold my hand but there were times when I sure did and don't you feel embarrassed when you think about what you could have done, what you should have done for me?

It didn't kill me, will it make me stronger?
I don't consider that a fact 'cause I was at the bottom and the strength I had seemed so distant and so far away from me

I won't bring up this case again but there's one final thing to say when someone who you'd die for tries to make it happen that's how bad it was could not go strong through it Felice

when you think about what you could have done,
what you should have done for me?
