"Shades Of Grey"

Turn the radio on, they never play your favorite song
What's the use of it all when all your colors fade away?
And there's no-one to wonder why another rainy day
Is fading in and out of shades of grey like always Fading in and out of shades of grey
Just one breath and you'll fade away
Shadows hang on the walls, in the corners of your mind Grandfather clock ticking on, counting all your wasted time
And there's no-one to wonder why another rainy day
Is fading in and out of shades of grey like always
Fading in and out of shades of grey
Just one breath and you'll fade away
No rainbows to follow
No rainbows tonight
Fall asleep on the couch, wrinkle all your clothes again
Don't bother trying to reach out -- there's nothing there but an empty dream
And there's no-one to wonder why another rainy day
Is fading in and out and fading in and out of shades of grey
Fading in and out of shades of grey
Fading in and out of shades of grey
Fading in and out of shades of grey like always
