Im slowly sinking down
Feel my universe tumble to the ground
When I was young I knew truth was easy to understand as true
Trying to prove that the earth is flat again
Wishing life was as clear as it should have been
Crawling into the void, all alone again
Trying to prove that the earth is flat
You don't stop breathing
Just because there is no air you can see Born into this world long before there were reasons you'd believe
Trying to prove that the earth is flat again
Wishing life was as clear as it should have been
Crawling into the void, all alone again
Trying to prove that the earth is flat
Trying to prove that the earth is flat
Trying to see why these simple things slip away from me
Im down on my knees bowing to gravity
And I would settle for proof of anything
But who am I to see?
Im so tiny
A speck of dust in an empty universe
Are you praying to find somebody to notice your small mass?
Trying to prove that the earth is flat again
Wishing life was as clear as it should have been
Crawling into the void, all alone again
Trying to prove that the earth is flat
Trying to prove that the earth is flat
Trying to prove that the earth is flat
