(chorus)

All the time that we have lost
Love that we have missed
Yeah, we stole everything that we could steal
And I never thought it would come to this
Oooh, reinventing the wheel...
We're together but we're apart
Every day we're drifting farther from our heart
But I still love you
Pull together maybe we can pull through

Chorus

We're together but we're alone
Every day we're drifting farther from our home
But I still love you
Pull together maybe we can pull through
Chorus

And the wheel goes round and round
And the clock goes on and on
Now it seems like we have lost our direction
Hold me now before we lose everything

All the time that we have lost
Love that we have missed
Yeah, we stole everything, we stole everything
And I never thought it would come to this
Oooh, reinventing the wheel...
