She's crawling out my window
In the middle of the night
She left behind her pillow
And her shape there by my side

But I...

She said something about tomorrow
She said something 'bout her life
I decided not to follow
And decided that was right

I want your body next to my body
I want your body next to my body

Her shadow in the moonlight
Still falls across my mind
And it sleeps under the covers
In the space she left behind

Oh and sometimes in the night time
I see footprints in the lawn
But then sunrise plays the villain

And then just like her they're gone

I want your body next to my body
I want your body next to my body

This is not something I could choose
Well this decision came from you
You had your chance
I made mistakes
You locked me out
You walked away
You stayed behind
(Behind) us is the past
(Past) experience has shown you that
Well this is broken this is true
I called you mine oh I still do
I called you mine oh I still do

I want your body next to my body
I want your body next to my body
