Oh well I don't know why
But so often my timing is so wrong
Like how I can't decided what to order when the waitresses come

Yeah well I don't know why
But life has the reasons she does Yeah and I realize that sometimes it's just because

You see people come and they go my friend
And I can't help but keep wonderin'
Is this where it starts or is it where it ends
This is more than just coincidence

Yeah well I don't know why
But so often my timing is so wrong
Like how I just arrive at the party when the pretty girl's gone

Everyone, everything well it seems has a place and a time
Oh but I don't know why well the world spun yours different than mine Oh and I, I won't fight where you choose to leave your footprints behind
But just know, when you go, that you'll be where you are and still be on my mind

You see people come and they go my friend
Yeah but I can't help but keep wonderin'
Is this where it starts or is it where it ends
We deserve much more than coincidence

Yeah with all I don't know There's one thing that I'm sure is true Lord I'm glad life's so cruel that it gave me the chance to lose you.
