[Proclamator:]

Timeo, trepido; in basilicis atris erro. Nescio, nememini quo modo huc adveni.

Librum luvenis quiete domi legebam. Sed qui estis, spiritus advenientes?

[Umbræ:]

Lemures aut spiritus non sumus! Nonne nos cognoscis?

Liber sanctus sum: Draconigenus sum: Et feminea
aeterna sum

[Proclamator:]

Certe vos cognosco; in somnis mihi torquetis!

Mehercule, abite, mali spiritus!

Redite ad infernos, magnopere me temptatis! Cur mi apparuitis; quid vobis mecum rei est?

[Umbræ:]

Tibi apparuimus, ut completus fias. Consanguinei sumus, tu et nos.

[Proclamator:]

Intellectu careo! Venitisne ex animo meo?

[Umbræ:]

Ita vero; de te sumus partes. Assume nos et invenies!

[Proclamator:] Nunc intellego!

[Omnia:] CONIUNCTI SUMUS.

[English translation:]

[Bawler:]

Timorous I tremble, lost in murky hallways. I know not nor recollect

How I came to be here. I was perusing the book of the Youth in the quiet of

My home. But who are you, approaching spirits?

[Shades:]

Lemures or spirits we are not! Dost thou not recognise us?

I am the sacred child: I am dragon-kin: I am the eternally feminine.

[Bawler:]

Verily I recognise you; the tormentors from my dreams! By Hercules, Begone, evil spirits! Return to Hades - you tempt me overmuch! Wherefore did
You appear to me; what be your business with me?

[Shades:]

We appeared to thee so thou wouldst become complete. We are consanguinous, thee and us.

[Bawler:] I understand not! Did you spring from my soul?

[Shades:] Forsooth; we are part of thee. Embrace us and thou shalt see!

[Bawler:] I comprehend now!

[All:] WE ARE CONJUGATED.
