Someone gives you their heart
But you still throw it all away
Knowing the past is a part
Part of what you are today
We all know you had your troubles
We all know you had your days
What is love?
You can throw it all away
With the helplessness of your pride
Telling yourself you're a loser
Like someone winning who's not
Telling yourself you're a loser
Where do you go from here?
Where do you go from here?
Where do you go from here?
Someone showed you the way
That you'll be ready to see
That the game had been played
Losers had lost and the winners were free
We all know you have your troubles
We all know you have your ways
What is love?
You can throw it all away
With the helplessness of your pride
Telling yourself you're a loser
Like someone winning who's not
Telling yourself you're a loser
Where do you go from here?
Where do you go from here?
Where do you go from here?
[steel drum solo]
We all know you have your troubles
We all know you have your days
What is love?
You can throw it all away
With the helplessness of your pride
Telling yourself you're a loser
Like someone winning who's not
Telling yourself you're a loser
Where do you go from here?
Where do you go from here?
Where do you go from here?

Where do you go from here?
Where do you go from here?
Where do you go from here?
Where do you go from here?
