feat. Little Brother & Notes To Self

Pooby got two little sisters that I gotta live long for Two little nephews that's getting so strong, so Many people counting on me, better get dough

We all a paycheck from living life of Skid Row My existence is a rollercoaster
Up and down, faster than your favorite star's poster Learn all the favorite, savor it, times not entitled Be cautious of your hearing, now the next moment's vital

Hey yo, we all got our choices and decisions to make Got kids and mortgages, tryina find a new way To make it to a new day, so we take our chances, ask God for answers
He said this ain't U tape, just 'cause something's ailing you Don't mean that God is failing you
It just means to listen harder to what He is telling you Not always fair and not always brightest, not rightest, not wrong
My nigga, it's just life

Baby, baby, please don't cry
Waiting on the day the sun gonna shine
There's no use waiting for the night
'Cause everything's gonna be alright

They ask me how is this life on the go, road shit
And so I tell 'em how this goody that I'm smoking Got me looking at it slow motion, just to get the point across
I point and pause, but fuck it, my past wrong, staying with me like a lawyer do They say we it, dude, but word to big poo, my sibling had a kid, too
My Bidy want a Shih Tzu, my cousin out in boot camp, my momma need a sick view I only got these two hands, they thinking that I'm vicious

Yeah, it's hard to find your path even with a GPS

Without the CSI see the lies or CBS

The road less traveled often ain't the easiest

But easiest is not the way to say you tryina be the best

Yes, no man can tell me that I've made it yet

I'll decide when I've arrived, idolize, main event

I know you say you noticed got some notoriety

But when we really make it you're for something else entirely

Baby, baby, please don't cry

Waiting on the day the sun gonna shine

There's no use waiting for the night

'Cause everything's gonna be alright
