The hands are folded but the souls out of reach
A veil of sadness is covering me
Unholy thoughts fill the void in my head
If lies we're tears I'd forgive you instead
The heart is hard
The heart is hard
So it wont break

You could admit to past mistakes
I could accept it all with grace
Become a hero save the day
And absolve you from all blame

But faded years now laid to waste
Can not erase the damage done
No hero here will save the day
When there's nothing left to say

I fight for air as you float over me
I'm holding on but you're already free
Unholy thoughts fill this void in my head
The door is shut and nothing is said
My heart is hard
My heart is hard
So it wont break
