So there's this girl who doesn't know much about me,
But that doesn't bother me or her.
She's out on the west coast,
Some call it the "best coast"
I don't really know cause I'm on the east coast.

But shes running away and I wont let her get to far
Cause shes all that I want and all that I need
Shes running away but I wont let her go, let her go

So there's this boy who doesn't know much about you
But he wants to get to know you a little bit more.
He wants to get to know you,
Your favorite color, Your favorite flavor
That's all he needs

3000 miles separates you from me
And every mile in between
Pushes you further from me
