How do I begin trying to explain
Everything I feel, so delicately paved
We are only human, we all make our mistakes
Yet you were always there to tell me it would be OK

Oh you're everything to me
Oh you're everything I need
Oh you're all that I am breathing in I'll take a moment to recall the beauty that you are

Woke up in a haze
Quietly ashamed, trying to find my place here
On this earth again
Then your scent reminds me,
How much I loved the taste of you and I together
Making memories full of grace

Oh you're everything to me
Oh you're everything I need
Oh you're all that I am breathing in
There's nothing more I'd rather do than lay with you again

If only I could lay with you again

Oh you're everything to me
Oh you're everything I need
Oh you're all that I am breathing in
If I may just breathe you again
Breathe you in
