Heard a sermon from a creaky pulpit with no one in the nave

I paid a visit to the synagogue and I left there feelin' blamed

No one can tell me what to do
They have not the capacity to answer me

What the world needs now is some answers to our problems

We can't buy more time 'cause our tender isn't valid
If your soul needs love you can get consoled by pity
But it looks as though faith alone won't sustain us no
more

Watch the scientists throw up their hands Conceding progress will resolve it all Saw the manufacturers of earth's debris ignore another green peace call No one could tell me what to do
No one had the ability to answer me

What the world needs now is some accountability
We can't buy more time 'cause time won't accept our money
If your soul needs love you can always have my pity
But it looks as though faith alone won't sustain us no

What the world needs now is some answers to our
problems
We can't buy more time 'cause our tender isn't valid
What the world needs now is some accountability
But faith alone won't sustain us anymore

Faith alone, won't sustain us anymore
Faith alone, won't sustain us anymore
Faith alone, won't sustain us anymore
