The losses of destructions pain is inside us
The people who were annihilated for us to live
The people who died when we were giving our fight

Their pain are inside me, like an arrow sticking into my flesh

God, why did you teach us pain
To this race that cannot obstruct themselves
The thing that came out of your hands is going to perish in mine, chaos

Its going to surround your world, your universe You're going to beg for the pain that you have given to end

While we are torturing you
Your doctrines are going to disappear with us
Your judgement won't rule in these realms anymore

Rise up to your nothingness, god of emptiness Perish in oblivion

The voices that thought humanity nothingness
You're going to live the chaos, in my races renaissance
Your bodies will be cremated
Your world of believers will be slaughtered

I swear you will forget god
You won't call out his name again
Your children are our children now
Your family is our cemetery
Your god is the god of chaos
