Livin' in the fast lane is easy
Till you run out of road
Friends will turn to strangers
When you're out of control

A slip of the tongue when it's done
Is often hard to see it thru
So never let your words be lies
Or they'll come looking for you

It's a hard life to love

For the price of glory you left
And threw your fortunes away
Never really cared too much
For the job or the pay

You're standin' in the rain
With no cover but you never complain
You're an angry young man face to face
But your mirror's insane

It's a hard life to love

I'm simply refusing a part in your world
'Cause I see, see how it burns, I see how it turns
And you're simply denying the fact that you're blind
And I see no more, I see red, I only see red

Think of all the times I was hurting
But you felt no pain
Think of all the lies you told me
Again and again

And still you see the truth
From those who continue to lie
And now you're seeking life
From those who are living to die

It's a hard life to love

I'm simply refusing a part in your world

'Cause I see, see how it burns, see how it turns
And you're simply denying the fact that you're blind
And I see no more, I see red, I only see red

Livin' in the fast lane ain't easy
When you run out of road
Friends will turn to strangers
When you've nowhere to go

Don't give a damn when you're lost
'Cause you'll die from it all
Laws were made to be broken
And you do it for the thrill of it all

It's a hard life to love
It's a hard life to love
It's a hard life to love

I run out on road
Hard life to love
I run out on road
It's a hard life to love
