

Blameshift

"From Here On In"

Visit "From Here On In" on MotoLyrics.com

Break your life, down before me
Hold on tight, endure the pain
Swear to god, you wont go back to Syringes that steal, your, veins

Just put me in the corner, shoot a shot into my skin
My body's going numb, I let the devil leak in
Is this really my addiction, how I slipped away again
Wont someone please save me
These walls are closing in

When the door is barely open
And the shades give broken light
There your body needs another
But you see no hope in sight

Just put me in the corner, where the sins of my dependency trapped and exposed me
Were these really my intentions, will you help me understand
I need you to save me
These walls are closing in

When the door is barely open
And the shades give broken light
There your body needs another
But you see no hope in sight

All the times you promised me
Help me to believe
Riding your dependency
Help me believe in something more than this
This questions killing
Can you believe in me?
You're gone again now
Help me believe in me

I cant believe

Help me.

