Whenever the words seems so hard to say
Whenever we fall as stars through the sky
Whenever you say that things will change
I know it's nothing but a tower of lies

You and I took the dive of centuries
You kissed me goodbye and I felt the world crack down
Through the never-ending shores of our lives
We both know that time is just a lie
That time is just a lie
Losing today I'm riding on the wings of destiny
Forests of melancholy can't save me now
I'm trapped along the walls of death and despair

Losing myself time falls apart the world cracks down

Over black moors we both have wandered but still I can't see you
I'm weeping up the words of times and loss the journey is lost
The times they are changing the world goodbye
Over black moors we both have wandered but still I
can't see you

Whenever the words seems so easy to say
Whenever we fall as stars through the night
Whenever you say that things won't change
I know it's nothing but a castle of lies
