English translation

Accompanied by the sound of the rain and your steps on the stairs of the sk ywalk,

I wave my hand to the sight of your back, which I won't be able to see again.
Time begins moving again as soon as the traffic light turns green.
The waves and crowds of umbrellas have engulfed my
I shall see off my love, for which I can no longer pledge eternity. I pray for the strength to forgive myself who can only live for my own sake.
I pray for the days through which I can live without regretting our lost love.
My prayer, cleaving the clouds, sends my hope into the

We won't turn around, for our love doesn't have a voice to keep us but merely that everything is disappearing in the flowing time.
What I have retained in my heart is the warmth that once enveloped me.
Farewell, you who loved me.
Farewell, I who was loved. I loved you, I yearned for you, but this is not the place I wished for.
Your voice still lingers, but I want to send my prayer to tomorrow. I pray for the strength to forgive myself who can only live for my own sake.
I pray for the days through which I
can live without regretting our lost love.
My prayer, cleaving the clouds, sends my hope into the sky.
