I think, I found it when I rewind it
And I'm not gonna play your game
I don't think that it has got to be that way
Making friends so you can use them

That's the way you pick and choose them
I don't think that it has got to be that way
And I don't understand it
But I don't think you planned it

You said a lot of things this year
Half of them untrue
You said a lot of things this year
That's not what I'm into

I don't think it's time to leave this
But I need to spend some time away
All I'm saying is that some things got to change
Don't rock the boat, don't press the issue

That is what you always say
But it's clear to me that things have got to change
And I don't think you planned it
But I hope you understand it

You said a lot of things this year
Half of them untrue
You said a lot of things this year
That's not what I'm into

There is hope and I'm not jaded
My passion for you hasn't faded
There is hope and it's unchanging
My passion for you hasn't faded
