So how long do you really think
I'd let you keep me here before i'd run away
And how long would you sit around and watch me waste my tears
Before you walk away
And i love your average faith

And there's nothing left but shattered memories
Of what we left behind
And the greatest will forever follow me
Forever left behind, left behind...

There's no time to be ridiculous
And piss into the wind, unless you wanted to There's no words that could ever make the sorrows disappear
Because i know it's through
And i love your average faith

Of what we left behind, left behind...
And the greatest will forever follow me

Forever and ever, forever...

And there's nothing left but shattered memories
Of what we left behind
And the greatest will forever follow me
Forever left behind, left behind...
