No more can I take this false pretense
You are everything but nothing to me
Holding the hand of a liar
This is a fucking disaster

Misrepresentation becomes an obsession
As your words are so far from the truth
All hell will reign down upon us
As you move mountains with your words

You looked at me with your withered eyes
That guides this empty being inside of you
Inside of you lies nothing but vanity
This obsession you have with yourself
I don't think you realize
It's only skin deep

How can you look down at me?
When you don't even know me?
How can you look down at me?
When you don't even know me?

Misrepresentation becomes an obsession
As your words are so far from the truth
All hell will reign down upon us
As you move mountains with your words

You looked at me with your withered eyes
That guides this empty being inside of you
It's nothing but vanity

How can you look down at me?
When you don't even know me?
How can you look down at me?
When you don't even know me?

I see nothing but a coward that has no ethics
You live in a world of your own make believe
You live in a world of your own make believe
In a world of your own make believe
Nothing but a coward
Nothing but a coward
