"Wake me up"

you ever heard the man inside it's telling you that nothing is alright? welcome to my (life) building biggest walls that hide my fear to everyone around, I'm blind welcome to this life

it's like my summer's gone it's like I turned to stone and no one's gonna wake me up I'm all alone it's like a fade to grey you slowly fade away
my life is like a broken glass too late to change

living with the blindfolds on I'm scaring off the ones I love, I'm crying burn away this (life) I never found a looking glass to change my mind and all this mess, I'm dying take away this life

it's like I turned to stone
you slowly fade away
wake me up

I hear you saying all these hard words "you never gonna be anything, go ahead and find your hard work" so you gonna be the way it's all supposed to be I see you all doing (these) things you go to work all day this 9 to 5, 247 sucking up to someone

it's like I turned to stone

you slowly fade away
