Back off, back off
I can hear you knocking
That day for the first time
I heard you scream out loud
I watched you
As the door stood silent, so did you
This thing will not go away
But some thing trying to stick around
So correct me if i'm wrong
But didn't something just break that day?
You don't have to say
I think you're on your way home
Better not tell sunrise
You're gonna go down tonight
Better not tell sunrise
Cause you know it'll be back
Better not tell sunrise
You're gonna go back tonight
Cause you know it'll be back
In the next morning flight

Back off, back off
But lately someone's been pounding on your heart
So why not?
Just blame it all on the agony
But still know that someone has to come and get it now
For so long has been apart
So correct me if i'm wrong
But didn't i see your eyes
Searching for the sky
You don't have to say
I think you're on your way home

Better not tell sunrise...
