I used to spend most of my time watching TV at home (at home)
No matter if I slept drank or ate I wasn't doing it alone I got all these years of knowledge I needed from Discovery Channel.
And if you took my TV away, it would be more than I could handle

No no no no no, I chased the shadow of where ever I go, reality show
And it's not what I want to see. And I hope one day you all will agree
'Cause I've lost all my faith in TV

I couldn't drop the rest of my life on my devotion to you But you screwed it all up with reality shows that lacks clue
And watching people make complete fools of themselves, thats lame
And I feel sorry for all the fuckers that do anything for fame.

No no no no, I chased the shadow of where ever I go,
reality show
And it's not what I want to see. And I hope one day you all will agree
'Cause I've lost my faith in TV

I've been trying to leave you as seen as you see what you know (?.)
But no matter the effort, I will always be coming back for more.
And now I am here, all I own even dark (?.)

No no no no, I chased the shadow of where ever I go,
reality show
And it's not what I want to see. And I hope one day you all will agree
We all want a show on TV

No no no no, I chased the shadow of where ever I go,

reality show

And it's not what I want to see. And I hope one day you all will agree

'Cause I've lost all my faith in TV

No no no no, I chased the shadow of where ever I go,
reality show

And it's not what I want to see. And I hope some day it will happen to me

I want a show on TV
