All of our days, we cry out for love
And we cry for the times that we lost it all
When we had it all, all our hopes and our dreams

All of our days we cry out for love
And we try to create it again, again
To deny the laws and to leave it behind

Sing sweet songs of love to me now
So the night will become one of love
Sing sweet songs of love to me now
For I need to know you're mine

All of our days, we long for a chance
To be lost in a trance of a love we share
A romantic love like no other before

All of our days, we live on the run
But we try to believe that it's just begun
That we'll have the time to enjoy every day

Sing songs, sweet songs of love to me now
So the night will become one of love
Sing sweet songs of love to me now
For I need to know you're mine

I love you, you know that I do
And forever I'll sing just for you
Let me know you love me tonight
Let me hold you in my arms

Sing sweet songs of love to me now
So the night will become one of love
