You could sense it even if they couldn't see the storm like a wave rushing a black sand beach at night

No one had come in to wake you up from the dead take my hand and wake up dead dreaming this cold dream forever you are my eternal slave a deafening scream echoed in your soul out of the dark and into that Hell

Crawling in the dust of the earth at least nothing will remain red shades moving in ghostly silence through the drifting mist

This is a totally paranoid delusion
