Maldoror!

How vile to utter his name

He who has slugs, lice, and snails fleeing at the sight of their enemy

He who would break the bones and tear the skin of the noble sacred youth

Until flaps of flesh hang from different parts of his body

[Chorus:]

Fiend beast and venomous ghoul

His pale corpse like sheen knows no mercy

He who would rend the pink faced child cheeks

The eyes contemplate while the razor sits and grins

He who would stitch your eyes shut

Depriving you of the spectacle of the universe

[Chorus]

[Solo - Danny]

He who would break your arms like two dry branches

And then forcibly make you eat them

He who would raise your virgin body by the legs

And swing you around like a frond and hurl you against the wall

And each drop of your blood

Would spurt onto a human breast

To set forth an example of his wickedness

[Chorus]
