"Run Away"

I feel it's time, to run away
And I feel so tired, but I can't stay Everything I want to do it never seems to include you Midwest dreams are crushed by fear, destroys my mind what can I find
If I run away. I won't be restrained.
Cut's through the day to fuel my hate, this place will mark my early grave.
I'll run away
Feeling insincere, you won't adhere To anything we say, just contemplate
That every single move you make counts down the time to rewind

You have got the mind to know that when you try it truly shows that You can run away. You won't be restrained. Cuts through your day to fuel your
Hate this place will mark your early grave.
You can run away.
We will run away (never feel alone)
'Cause we won't be restrained (I won't be alone) Cuts through our day to fuel our hate. This place will mark our early grave.
We will run away.
