

Blue Delusion

"Sunlight Will Burn"

Visit "Sunlight Will Burn" on MotoLyrics.com

A soft, whistle in the wind and God has turned his back on you again a stronger wind now blows it's time to forget those friends you know We want to see the real you come out and never hang your head in shame or doubt They say, "Just understand, It's time to be a man. And the world has dealt a shitty hand."
But the more you wind up going through you'll ignore the pain and awful truth somehow
The path will be lit, for you to see your problems forgiven new road is paved then and I Will have to move on, leaving you here

The sunlight it burns as it's finally your turn There once was a story that I was told to help me move on, and never feel this cold and with this song I hope you'll see everything has an end, yes the pieces will mend somehow
The path will be lit, for you to see Those problems forgiven new road is paved then and I
Will have to move on, leaving you here
The sunlight it burns as it's finally your turn Yes the sunlight it burns as it's finally your turn

Visit Blue Delusion page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.