Another birthday came and went
Guess I missed the card you never sent
I can't blame you though it's true
It's not like I was there for you

I used to love to watch the trees
Leaves in motion through a gentle breeze
Now I watch them falling down
And the wind's a mournful sound

I guess life ain't all that bad
Still got memories in spades
I wish they didn't make me sad
You know I used to love parades

I don't like football anymore
Don't even care enough to hear the score
Seems like everything I do
Keeps reminding me of you

I wish I felt like going out
Alaska's nice this time of year, no doubt
But lately life just ain't the same
Guess I should learn to take the blame

I guess life ain't all that bad
But life worth living slowly fades
Everything that's left is sad
You know I used to love parades
