"Sit To Understand"

The wind is blowing colder
The temperature has dropped
Ever since i left your home

I know that's why you cry
When you see my picture crumbled on the floor

Ive always wanted to understand

I won't wait for you forever
I can't escape your grasp
Ill cry away the sleep

We always knew
That we were vulnerable too

In this dream I am the tortured
Ive always wanted someone to hold on to
But everything we went through went wrong
I needed you

Don't say it was the first time
Because this happened to them too
The ignorance in illusions
Repeating pasts that you put me through

I know everything now
But you keep calling me at night
I know everything now
