Take a look at this face of mine
Take a look at this mask
What are you looking for?
Well you may ask
See off so many secrets
I have so many spies
Things I can't live with no more
Blame behind these eyes

I need a station
I need a break
I need an oil change
I need something to help me along on my way
Just need something to keep me awake

Just hit the road I thought
Just saddle and steer
So I kept driving
Until I came here
Well you know that you might be
My last friend on earth
And I have but one last request
For what it's worth

I need a station
I need a break
I need an oil change
I need something to help me along on my way
Just need something to keep me awake

And if you remember me in a while
That's enough
And if you remember me and smile
That's enough

'Cause I need a station
I need a break
I need an oil change
I need something to help me along on my way
Just need something to keep me awake
