When I go, gonna buy me a boat and float to the sea
And when I leave gonna find a land where I'll be free
I don't need to listen to your policies
How can we follow if you don't understand
I can tell you've closed the door
To the forest who cries
Do you want to live proudly or are you happy in the lost world

You're just two steps away, to turn the night into day

When I go, gonna find me a path where I'll roam free
When I leave gonna find a girl who I'll marry
I don't need to listen to all your lies
How can we help you if you don't understand
Now I feel that we have a choice
To clear our minds from all worries
See it clearly in my heart
That the wise man sleeps alone

You're just two steps away, to turn the night into day

I believe in something so strong
That you believe in something so wrong
Now I find I'm moving away
Coz you believe in nothing at all

When I go, gonna buy me a boat and float to the sea
When I leave gonna find a land where I'll be free
I don't need to listen to your policies
How can I move you if you don't understand

You're just two steps away, to turn the night into day

I believe in something so strong
That you believe in something so wrong
Now I find I'm moving away
Coz you believe in nothing at all
