Ooh

never trust your own emotions they'll always let you down

And the one that's closest to you may not always be around.

I never questioned the promises you made

Every time I gave my heart I was betrayed.

What a fool
that I should ever believe in love
truth and honesty

All the time you just keep on hurting me!

Maybe everyone's a stranger
I watch them come and go

But I think everyone's in danger if they let their feelings show.

There's a lesson and a price you have to pay

If you give your heart don't let it be betrayed.

What a fool
that I should ever believe in love
truth and honesty

...

What a fool
every time I find I'm deceived

Where is the love
truth and honesty

If you see it won't you bring on home to me?

There's a lesson and a price you have to pay

If you give your heart don't let it be betrayed.

What a fool
that I should ever believe in love
truth and

What a fool
every time I find I'm deceived
