Bizzy Bone

My Father and Grandfather, so happy to be in existence, alive/ My understanding the meaning of reasons and plus the answers on how to survive/ How to rewind, make it to perfection at least, I'm getting as close as I can/ As y'all teach me to be a man/ I stand for something that's more grand; The rest of the fam/ Demonous the winds, Abraham brang some of the Jinn/ Timothy, so broken, and all of the candles we born into sin/ I thank the light created from darkness, the angels' just wantin' the love/ But the love that he has could never be bought and I think him and call him a dove/ Plus he love Allah, and plus the Son, and I know that he love me as well/ My name is glory, and Jesus' my dad/ Even if all of the children fail, we'll never fail/ Better be careful, the mysteries here, can't eat off the holy grail/ Angels still on your trail, you worship The Lord, you'll always prevail/ Never could teach, I tried to preach, you know what they do to me; Want to be righteous/ Instead of my stuck in the shelters, I'm kind of famous, singin' and writin'/ Grandfather, I'm feeling the hurt of the battle, the talent just like i was told/ Make me strong in the face of invisible things; Bizzy Bone can't be boned

-Chorus-Chamillionaire-

This is for the OG's, this is for the OG's/ This is for everyone back in the day, everyone who paved the way before me/ This is for the shorty's/ It's because even when I had no change, still the same, it didnt change, homie/ This is for the homies, everyone who couldn't make it here today/ Lift your lighters up and say "RIP" Lift your lighters (For me) Lift your lighters (For me) Lift your lighters (For me) Just to say "RIP"
