I tried to forget you
I tried to make it on my own
I tried to deny you
But something keeps me hangin' on
And though I've lost my way
You believed in me

It feels like comin' home again
It feels like comin' home again

Like mother and father
Your love is unconditional
The way you forgive me
Somehow it's so sensational
And you'll be there for me
Wherever I may roam

It feels like comin' home again
It feels like comin' home again

I know for sure
That you'll never let me down
Someday, somewhere
You will always be around

Sometimes when I'm desperate
And I feel so dammed alone
Your arms are wide open
And it feels like comin' home
I know you'll wait for me until the end of time

It feels like comin' home again
