I'm going to California
turn the corner turn the key unlock the secret garden
and throw away the key Don't care how long it takes me don't care what I have to do crawl across the great divide just to get back to you My God, how did it come to this
wallowing in my own pit some birds that sing had to sacrifice
their wings
can you save me
save me from myself
I'm going to California
let the sun melt down my heart there'll be no fighting crying no more stumbling in the dark and when all of the king's horses and all of the king's men come to visit me in California well, I'll gladly let them in
their wings
