Will we ever really learn of our creation
Or will this century
Claim the natural domain
Breakaway at a point when it's too late
Now the course is set
And our destination is our fate
A lesson learned will not remain

Gone past your call
See the complex set
You must explore
Toward the promise land

The purity has taken leave with
The modern age supremacy
Manipulate the siege
Grant me the means
To render useless,
The machines
To render useless,
The machines

We are falling into the circles
The smallest pieces
Are taking shape and taking charge
We combine two worlds of design

We are falling into the circles
The smallest pieces
Are taking shape and taking charge
Never fell connecting
I left myself inside the wires
I left myself inside the wires

Two worlds of design

Try living out in the open
The slightest change
Equals time inside the wires

The harmony of nature
Within the body of knowledge

Find life in the consequence of discovery
But there's still a mystery that blinds
