Julie has a dad that might as well be dead
A case a day habit and 3 other kids
She's a much more beautiful person
Than he'll ever know

She hates the world, at least the one outside
She's a MySpace kid, living a virtual life
And she's a much more beautiful person
Than she'll ever know

Close your eyes and let time tick by
In this life, it's okay to cry sometimes
It can be hard to see
When it's right in front of you

You're gonna smile sometimes
And worlds will collide
I know you're tired of waiting
So when you're through with hating

You'll be a much more beautiful person
And now you know
And now you know

Tommy can't help but feeling alone
Walking the halls with his head hung low
And he's a much more beautiful person
Than he'll ever know

High school kids can be so nasty
In a cut throat war for popularity
A much more beautiful person
Than he'll ever know

Close your eyes and let time tick by
In this life, it's okay to cry sometimes
It can be hard to see
When it's right in front of you

You're gonna smile sometimes
And worlds will collide
I know you're tired of waiting

So when you're through with hating

You'll be a much more beautiful person
You'll be a much more beautiful person
And now you know

And you don't feel so lucky
But I see so many things in you
Believe me
I know just what you're going through

So stand up and take a bow
Hold you head high
Don't ever let them get you down
It's all about you and it's long overdue

You're gonna smile sometimes
The worlds will collide
I know you're tired of waiting
And so when you're through with hating

You'll be a much more beautiful person
You'll be a much more beautiful person
You'll be a much more beautiful person

And now you know
And now you know
Now you know
