Felt like my world revolved around your hazel eyes
Those scatter-cushion lips, eyelashes that flutter like a butterfly
Your arms around me in the morning oh but the catalogue of lies
So many things just don't add up your just a child why should I be surprised Why can't you pick up the phone
Oh how gutless can you be Run as far as you can
You'll never escape me

Oh Julian don't tell me it was all just lies
Oh Julian don't keep it all internalized
Oh Julian your just a small boy in a big mans world

I said some foolish things but you took my voice away
Like an audience of one, such a lonely game to play
Hey you feel so much, have you nothing more to say Except just leave me alone
we'll both laugh about this one day
Don't tell me the world is changing You're living proof of just how uptight it can be

And a fag who hates himself is her own worse enemy

Oh Julian was it anything for fame
Oh Julian will ya do it all again
Oh Julian the fizz has gone from your champagne

I hold nothing back, I give it all away
I am the Thunder 317 blue eyed, vulnerable seeking and similar Camp-acting, very scene, Im flaming, Im screaming looking for someone brave enough to love me

Oh Julian don't tell me it was all just lies
Oh Julian don't keep it all internalized
Oh Julian your just a small boy in a big mans world
