Too much jealousy will make you crazy
I've been walking the street in shoes that kill my feet
Too much make-up, oh, dream like a lady
Now you're a prisoner of some shallow dream

You're out of fashion, your moment's over
And yes, I loved you, oh, but you wore me out
You're out of fashion, so just forget it now
A living tragedy, parody fits you like a glove

Too much ego makes you ugly, yeah
I've been running away from what I really need
Desperation pushes love away
Now you're a prisoner of your own desire

You're out of fashion, your moment's over
And yes, I loved you, oh, but you wore me out
You're out of fashion, so just forget it now
A living tragedy, parody fits you like a glove

There's enough love in this world for you and me
There's enough love for everyone, you wait and see
There's enough love in this world
So why do we hide what we feel inside?

There's enough love in this world
There's enough love in this world
There's enough love in this world

You're out of fashion, your moment's over
And yes, I loved you, oh, but you wore me out
You're out of fashion, so just forget it now
A living tragedy, parody fits you like a glove
