Don't spend too much time thinking and forget to start
Living

Or you might find that life is passing you by

Put on a smile and put by your misgiving

Go and face the world with your head held high

Live like there's no tomorrow

This very day could be your last

Live like there's no tomorrow

This very day could be your last

A life spent absorbed in the printed word

Is simply no good for your mental health

Authors only describe their own place in this world

There are many mistakes you must make for yourself

Live like there's no tomorrow

This very day could be your last

Live like there's no tomorrow

This very day could be your last
